TWO PICTURES.

BEFORE MARRIAGE. My Maggie, my beautiful darling, Creep into my arms, my sweet, Let me told you again to my bosom, So close I can bear your heart beat. What! these little fingers been sewing; One's been pricked with the needle, I see. These hands shall be kept from such labor

When once they are given to me. All mine, little pet, I will shield you From trouble and labor and care; I will robe you like some fairy princess, And jewels shall gleam in your hair. Those slippers you gave me are perfect, That dressing gown fits to a T-My darling, I wonder that heaven

Should give such a treasure to me. Eight-nine-ten-cleven! my precious, Time flies so when I am with you, It seems but a moment I've been here, And now, must I say it ?-Adieu!

AFTER MARRIAGE. Oh. Meg! you are heavy-I'm tired; Go sit in the rocker, I pray; Your weight seems a hundred and ninety, When you plump down in that sort of way. You had better be mending my coat sleeve; I've spoken about it before, And I want to finish this novel, And look over those bills from the store,

This dressing gown sets like the d-1; These slippers run down at the heel; Strange, anything can never look decent : I wish you could know how they feel. What's this bill from Morgan's? Why, surely It's not for another new dress? Look here! I'll be bankrupt ere New Year, Or your store bill will have to grow less.

Eight o'clock? Meg, sew on this button As soon as you finish that sleeve: Heigh ho! I'm so deucedly sleepy. I'll pile off to bed, I believe.

THERE IS NO UNBELIEF.

There is no unbelief. Whoever plants a seed beneath the sod And wants to see it push away the clod, Trusts he in God.

There is no unbellef.

Whoever says, when clouds are in the sky, "Be patient, heart! Light breaketh by and by," Trusts the Most High. There is no unbelief.

Whoever sees 'neath Winter's field of snow The silent harvest of the future grow, God's power must know.

There is no unbelief. Whoever lies down on his couch to sleep, Consents to lock each sense in slumber deep, Knows God will keep. There is no unbelief.

Whoever says "to-morrow," the anknown, The future, trusts that power alone He dares not to disown. There is no unbelief.

The heart that looks on when eyelids close, And dares to live when life has only woes, God's comfort knows. There is no unbelief.

And say by day and night, unconsciously,

The heart lives by that faith the lips deny, God knoweth why. A JEALOUS DARKEY-THE TELL

TALE GREEN NECKTIE. Yesterday afternoon Anton Adam was absorbed at his desk making out the death warrants of those who had not money enough to pay their county taxes. So absorbed was Anton that he did not observe the presence of a bow-legged darkey as black as are our railroad prospects, bowing and scraping like mad. At length the colored voter leaned over the railing and said, pleasantly. "Captain, is you de boss of de Grand Jury?" and then retreated in dismay at his own recklessness. As soon as the official could recover his presence of mind he inquired what was wanting, whereupon the colored voter replied, "Kase, if you is, I wants to sue out a writ ob felony agin Jim Webster, de miserable, sickly, yaller skunk. 'Fore God, boss, if he was my kin I'd crawl up a hollow tree and die, I would -de low-lived, trifling whelp!" Says Anton: "What did he do?"

"Dat's what I say-he ain't wull dat de sun shines on him, and he's done got ligeon, and sings de hymns wuss den a saw-mill. I wonders de perlice don't tie a rock to his neck, and jess drap him off de mill bridge, de wufless, trifling popinjay!"
"But what did he do?" shouted Anton.

"Well, you see, boss, I don't mind telling you, kase you is a gentleman, you is. You see, the last bright Sunday I took a young colored lady a promenade, and I presented her dat evening wid a green necktie, wid blue tassels, like .- "

"Well, suppose you did," remarked the bewildered Anton.

"Well, boss, 'fore God, I jess meet dat thousar same noaccount, pumpkin-taced, knock-kneed to-day. egg-sucking thief, 'fore God, if dere is one nigger dat I spise-"Well, what of it?" inquired Anton, who felt he was losing his reason.

niggah didn't hab dat berry same cravat wid de blue tassels on his neck. Fore God he did, and I's gwine to hab de law on him. I wants to swear out a felony to make him prove how he cum by dat neck-tie-de wufless, trifling," etc.

Anton made a motion to gather something fit to throw, whereupon there was a speedy adjournment. After Mr. Adam had resumed his labors the head of the much injured darkey was inserted through the door, and he inquired where he could find the "discreet jedge," referring possibly to Judge Nooman, judge of this district, as, when last seen, those bow legs were making fine time in pursuit of him .- [San Antonio, Texas, Herald.

How a LADY SHOULD SIT ON A HORSE .-The ideal of a fine horsewoman is erect without being rigid, perfectly square to the front, and, until quite at home in the saddle, looking religiously between her horse's ears. The shoulders should be perfectly square, and see the but thrown back a little, so as to expand the chest and make a hollow waist, "such as is observed in waltzing," but always flexible. On the flexibility of the person above the seat all the grace of equestrianism, and on the firmness below all the safety, depend. Nervousness makes both men and women poke their heads forward-a stupid trick in Valuable Property for Sale. a man, unpardonable in a woman. A lady should bend like a willow in a storm, always returning to an easy yet nearly upright position. This seat should be acquired while the lady's horse is led, first by hand, then with a leading stick, and finally with a lunging-rein, which will give room for cantering in circles. But where a pupil is encumbered with reins, a whip, and directions for guiding a horse, she may be excused for forgetting all about her seat or her position. The arms down to the elbows should hang loosely near but not fixed to the sides, and the hands, in the absence of reins, may rest in front of Chicago, May 9 .- The marriage of Gen. Phil. Sheridan to Miss R. Rucker will take place during the first week in June, at the igan avenue. The most elaborate preparations are being made, and society is already in a profound flurry. The nuptials are to Thursdays. dor of the Roman Catholic church, the bride being a devotee of that faith. Bishop Faley will probably perform the ceremony, though it is thought that efforts will be made to induce the Cardinal to visit Chicago for that purpose. The President and Mrs. Grant, with other distinguished personages, are expected to be present. The bride, a tall and beautiful brunette, is the second daughter of General D. H. Rucker and is 19 years of age. AZTLAN LODGE No. 177, F. & A. M. She graduated at the Convent of St. Leonards, and is said to be highly accomplished and intelligent.

Washington, May 12.-The news from all sources from the Mexican frontier of Texas is not at all assuring, and betokens serious trouble. The raiding troubles seem to be more frequent and better organized, and the serious attention of the Government is attracted thereto. The Mexican government is entirely powerless to prevent such border disturbances if disposed to do so. The citizens of Texas and their State authorities are but little if any more competent to the task, but they may be made so with the aid of our national forces which are tendered by Gen. Sherman, who says in a dispatch on the subject to the Texans: "Should it be a hostile measure from Mexico, the President may order more troops and take a more positive course of action." The depredations keep all communication with Brownsville cut off, which renders the fears and excitement greater on the border.

Lexington, Ky., May 13.-John C. Breckenridge is sinking rapidly, and his death is expected at any moment. Sun Antonio, Texas, May 12.—Generals Hatch and Davis, of the U. S. Army, have arrived here from the Rio Grande and report that the raids from Mexico are increasing and the raiders are becoming more bold. Murders are constantly occurring, and unless summary measures are taken the country between the Rio Grande and Neuces will soon be in the hands of Mexican outlaws.

Washington, May 12 .- There is said to be a growing coolness between the President and Secretary Bristow. This has been caused by the injudicious warmth of some of Bristow's friends who, in season and out of season, talked about his lovely prospect for being the next President. Tall Kentuckians stand about the hotel lobbies and earnestly advocate the claims of "the man who is honest, a perfick gentleman, sah, and a man who has backbone, sah," until much talk has made Bristow several times mentioned as a possible candidate. Bristow, it seems, has taken no sort of pains to stop this, in fact he rather appears to like it, and hence the fact that the Presidential bosom does not yearn Topeka, Kansas, May 12.—The Indians continue to be troublesome along the western frontier. The troops have had several light skirmishes with small parties of them during the past week. Arrangements have been made to send a force from Fort Hayes that will pursue them until they surrender or are captured.

Washington, May 12.- The delegation of Sioux who arrived here to treat with the Government concerning the Black Hills country is delayed at Fort Laramie by the intrigues of post traders. Indian agent Saville has telegraphed their complaints to the Indian Department, and there will probably be no further trouble. The Indians will leave immediately, and will arrive here in

The usual complaints concerning the awards of contracts for Indian supplies are reaching the Interior Department. There is no foundation for belief that the awards were not made fairly and according to the
